Sew, What's New at the Shop?

We start this newsletter with some wonderful personal news. Riley Patrick Favre is my new grandchild! His adoption has been finalized and he is the most adorable addition to my family. Having a two-year-old is such a blessing and we look forward to watching him grow up and experience all the fabulous things the future holds for him.

Meanwhile, back at the shop we're busy getting ready for the upcoming seasons and holidays. New books, patterns, and fabrics are arriving to fill our shelves and your thoughts with fun ideas for gifts for you and/or your loved ones. Some of our tried and true favorite authors will keep you planning and creating all fall and winter long.

Maria Sendzik has joined us as a regular instructor, and teaches classes one Saturday each month. Her first class this quarter is October 22, 11:00-3:00. Maria will be teaching the This Way, That Way quilt from the new Annie's Quilting book, Charming Jelly Roll Quilts.

The pattern is similar to a Rail Fence or woven basket. It goes together quickly, promising a finished top in no time.

Our store sample is in Christmas fabrics, and we have a nice selection of new jelly rolls to choose from to make your quilt. The class cost is $35, plus the book and fabrics. If you've taken one of Maria's previous classes with us

you know that she is as good a baker as she is a teacher, so be prepared for a delicious dessert to be enjoyed during a break in class. Feel free to bring your lunch and join us for this fun class.

Ann Wright, and another Annie's Quilting book: Spooktacular Halloween Quilting. A fun book to celebrate the other holiday that inspires lots of home decorating.

The Three-Yard ladies from Fabric Café have done it again! Donna Robertson and Fran Morgan are ready to help you with your holiday gifts with their book, Make It Christmas with 3-Yard Quilts. Our next planned project from this new book is the Evergreen quilt. A simple nine-patch creates a pretty checkerboard interspersed with green evergreens waiting for the first snow of winter. This class will be taught by Maria with a November date to be determined soon. A sample of this quilt will be available to view shortly.

New winter fabrics have been arriving in addition to the latest books and patterns. Pretty reds, creams, and greens will create a festive quilt for any wall, table, couch, or bed. Cute stockings, bright blooming poinsettias, snowy Christmas trees, and cheerful snowmen join traditional red pick-up trucks to help make your home festive.

Our next issue of The Fat Quarterly will be ready in January. Till then, we wish our customers and their families a healthy and happy holiday season! We'll look forward to seeing you in the shop. Happy sewing!

Other new books that have come in are Jelly Roll Jazz, by Jean
